

Daniel Scott is Goshen's Building Inspector and Health & Safety Enforcement Officer, bringing over 30 years of construction experience to the job. He has spent his career working on construction sites and homes throughout New England, giving him a practical understanding of what safe, solid building looks like in real local conditions.

Daniel believes in working with people, not against them. Whether it's a small renovation, a new build, or simply a question about codes, he aims to make the process clear, fair, and straightforward for everyone involved.

As a local resident raising a family here in town, Daniel cares deeply about protecting Goshen's character while supporting responsible growth. He works closely with homeowners, contractors, and town officials to ensure projects meet state and local requirements—always keeping in mind that Goshen is a small community where neighbors look out for one another.

He is grateful for the opportunity to serve the community and looks forward to helping residents build and maintain safe homes and a healthier Goshen for years to come.
